Personal Community Scavenger Hunt

Your final piece will be a series of three photos that give the viewer a perspective of your personal community. You will do this by taking photos that you feel represent your personal community and combining them into a single triptych (a piece of art composed of three images placed next to each other).

How do I do it? You will do this "scavenger hunt style," meaning I will be giving you a list of 10 terms and you need to choose 6 of them to photograph. You will then take at least 6 different photos representing each of the 6 terms. Don't just do the same photo 6 times, but show that term differently. Zoom in, get it from a different angle, get the details, zoom out, look at it from underneath, look at it from above, compose it differently, get it in action, get it not in action. Consider your light, background, detail, focus. Consider some of the things we will be talking about in class. You get the picture – you have to use your photos to tell your story.
